President Cleveland on Oregon Wagon Road Grants.

THE MOST UNBLUSHING FRAUDS

Confederates and the Civil Service—Bad News for Customs Officials—Notes of Special Interest to the Northwest.

WASHINGTON March 20 —The president to-day sent to the two houses of congress a communication from the secretary of the interior with a great mass of testimony relating to grants of land to the state of Oregon for the construction of wagon roads The presentation of the acts by the secretary the president says is the result of an examination which has developed as it seems to him (the president) the most unblushing frauds upon the government which if remaining unchallenged will divert several hundred thousand acres of land from the public domain and from the reach of honest settlers to those who have attempted to pervert and prostitute [illegible] beneficent designs of the government The government sought by the promise of generous donations of lands, to promote the building of wagon roads for public convenience and for the purpose of encouraging settlement upon the public lands The roads have not yet been built and yet an attempt is made to claim the lands under a title which depends for its validity entirely upon the construction of these roads.

A bill accompanies the communication which the president submits with a recommendation that it may become a law and with an earnest hope that the opportunity thus presented to demonstrate a sincere desire to preserve the public domain for settlers and to frustrate unlawful attempts to appropriate the same may not be neglected.

AN OLD STORY

It seems that the president has just discovered these great frauds, and rushed eagerly to the front on the eve of an election in Oregon, to urge congress to pass a bill to forfeit these grants Senator Dolph in the Forty ninth congress introduced a bill, which was referred to the committee on public lands Senator Dolph submitted to the senate at that time an elaborate report for the committee consisting of more than one hundred pages containing all the information which the agents gathered in their recent visit to Oregon Senator Dolph also urged the passage of his bill forfeiting these wagon road grants The senate passed the bill in the Forty ninth congress and sent it to the democratic house where it was L[illegible]bored by the committee on public lands.

Among the first bills which Senator Dolph introduced in the 50th congress was one to forfeit these wagon road grants It has been favorably reported to the senate from the committee on public lands and is now on the calendar, and may be reached in a week

The great discovery which apparently has just now been made by the executive is an old story and had the democratic house exercised half the zeal in the 49th congress which Cleveland now displays these wagon road grants would have been forfeited two years ago

SAD NEWS FOR CUSTOMS OFFICERS

A General Reduction of Salaries Ordered by the Treasury Department.

WASHINGTON March 20 —Estimates made at the treasury department indicate that the present rate of expense of collecting revenue from customs cannot be maintained up to the close of the present fiscal year under the available balance of the general appropriation without creating a deficiency of $1[illegible] Secretary Fairchild has therefore determined upon a reduction of expenses to that amount during the remainder of the fiscal year being $100 000 a month The reduction has been apportioned among the different customs collection districts and collectors have been instructed to readjust their salaries accordingly so as to bring the total expenses within the limit fixed on As the force cannot be reduced in numbers without seriously crippling the service, a saving can only be effected by a general reduction of salaries Congress will be asked to provide for the service upon the present basis for the balance of the fiscal year If that is done the reduction will be only temporary

CONGRESSIONAL.

SENATE

WASHINGTON March 20 —Among the bills reported from committees and placed on the calendar were the following To relieve the treasurer of the United States from the amount now charged to him and deposited with several states to authorize the secretary of the treasury to purchase United States bonds and to provide interest

Notice was given by Aldrich who reported it [illegible] bill that he would call it up at an early day [illegible] [illegible] that pensions be rated according to the [illegible] at the date of discharge

Blair who yesterday introduced a bill [illegible] preference for civil service appointments among men who had been disloyal during the war to those who had served in the Confederate army and who were suffering from wounds or disabilities asked Platt (who had objected to the second reading of the bill) to withdraw his objection

Platt said he would not object to the bill being read the second time and referred to a committee

Blair said he had introduced the bill in entire good faith He understood that in North Carolina there were to-day 20 000 ex soldiers of the Confederacy who had lost limbs in service and that a very large number of them were in poor circumstances It seemed to him if the government under this administration or under any other administration is to give appointments to men who have been disloyal preference should be given to those who had served in the Confederate armies and were now disabled (other things being equal)

The debate was conducted up to 2 o'clock when the bill went over till to-morrow without action Speeches were made by Senators Platt, Hale Berry Blair Hoar Riddleberger Hampton George Manderson Daniels and Hawley The southern senators while expressing the kindliest feeling for the generosity and philanthropy which had prompted the introduction of the bill disclaimed all desire on the part of ex-Confederates to [illegible] [illegible] such sectional measure [illegible] [illegible] as a matter of courtesy and uniformity [illegible] bills should be read the second time and referred [illegible] the Northern senators were [illegible] accord in condemning the measure as [illegible]

After considerable debate the [illegible] was agreed to and the resolution was adopted It sets aside the 20th and [illegible] of March [illegible] April and the 16th of May to the purpose stated

The floor was then accorded the committee on labor and bills passed to the protection in their wages of [illegible] laborers and servants [illegible] District of Columbia and territories and extending the provisions of the eight hour law to letter carriers [illegible] was taken up and briefly discussed Without action the committee rose and the house [illegible]

He Revised Corrected and Made Valuable Suggestions

NEW YORK March 20 —The Sun will to-morrow publish Gen Adam Badeau's version of the controversy which has arisen between himself and Grant's family in regard to the claim Badeau makes for compensation for services to Gen Grant in the preparation of his Personal Memoirs The statement is addressed to the American people and fills several columns of the Sun Badeau defends his position and is severe in his strictures on the course pursued by Col. Fred Grant in the matter He tells how much time and hard unremitting labor he gave to the work and how his own [illegible] in which he had spent sixteen years [illegible] by the success of that of Gen Grant [illegible] he was also put to many [illegible] take effect.

I did not write the original matter said he and in that sense did not compose the book The thoughts were Gen Grant's and in most cases the original draft of the language but I suggested much I told him when to insert descriptions of scenes where to place an account of a character how to elaborate a picture of a battle [illegible] I discussed his statements and the advisability of his expressions of opinion and often persuaded him to change the one or modify the other I broke up sentences I softened or heightened the effect I corrected grammar and all with the knowledge and sanction of Gen Grant. I always sought to preserve his simplicity and directness and even ruggedness of language never [illegible] my own share in the work He had no idea of [illegible] [illegible] a chapter or a book or of treating a theme so as to lead up to a point or to make a complete picture of any [illegible] But the book could not have been made [illegible] without me There was no one else who had both my peculiar knowledge of the theme and the literary quality There was no one else whom he would have allowed to do what I did But he knew how I loved him and how devoted I was to his fame and he trusted all to me I would not have told what I am writing now if it had not been [illegible] from me by the imputations referred to [illegible]

Badeau claims that the letter of dismissal was in the handwriting of Fred Grant with the exception of the signature

WHERE IS THE MONEY?

Kentucky's Treasurer a Defaulter in a Large Sum.

TWENTY YEARS IN ONE OFFICE

A Man Whose Name Was a Synonym for Honesty—Indications that he Was Ruined by False Friends

FRANKFORT March [illegible]0 —Gov Buckner this morning suspended Treasurer of the State James W Tate. Tate is charged with defalcation in his office and is said to have fled the state The defaulting official has been treasurer twenty one years An investigation was instituted on the recommendation of Gov Buckner and disclosed [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] of $150 000 [illegible] liabilities [illegible] [illegible] years

A [illegible] RECORD

The discovery of the shortage is the result of an examination of Tate's books commenced some days ago by an expert accountant Tate's bond was for $500 000 and is well covered He was in Louisville Saturday [illegible] when he was observed to [illegible] drinking [illegible] [illegible] for him Since that time [illegible] has to be seen and his [illegible]

Tate was elected state treasurer [illegible] having [illegible] that [illegible] democratic [illegible] has been elected continuously [illegible] [illegible] then [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] years on August [illegible] In the [illegible] campaign Tate had no opposition for the [illegible] Everybody laughed at the idea of opposing honest old Dick Tate He received the nomination for the [illegible] consecutive time His majorities have always [illegible] among the [illegible] on the ticket and merry honest jolly Dick Tate has been one of the most widely known and popular men in Kentucky

THE SHORTAGE STILL UNKNOWN

Up to to-night it is impossible to state the exact amount of shortage but it is now fluctuating between $150 000 and $160 000

The first intimation of shortage came yesterday when a comparison of the [illegible] statement of what should be in the bank showed that such an amount was not there This coupled with the fact that the treasurer had not been seen since Friday at Frankfort [illegible] examination to be made with the result that the state's money was discovered to have been [illegible] in large amounts

Since the investigation was [illegible] of stories about strange conduct of late have been made public State Senator Wright says that on Thursday last Tate questioned him closely and at great length as to the exact provisions in the extradition treaties between the United States and Canada also with Mexico Wright did not pay much attention to it at the time

What has become of the money no one knows Tate never speculated [illegible] [illegible] to have been an extravagant liver Year by year money had leaked out however and the shortage seems to have been running back a dozen years

MEN OF HIGH STANDING INVOLVED

Mr Herndon of this city who was at one time teller in the bank at Frankfort says Tate's defalcation will involve state officials and citizens of high standing He says it was the custom of many state officials to go to Tate and get him to cash notes for them promising to pay as soon as their vouchers were [illegible] When they secured the vouchers however they would defer payment and the good natured treasurer failing to push the claims accumulated a mass of such securities as must by this time be simply enormous

There is no indication that Tate took any money with him It is thought the report of the investigators will furnish definite light as to when and to whom Tate loaned the money It is said a memoranda in his office shows a loan of $50 000 to a certain whisky trust and $25 000 to a [illegible] Company

It has been Tate's custom to settle up every year and never until now was there the least hesitation on his part to square his accounts with the auditor This time however there was much procrastination and he has been putting the auditor off since January Last week the auditor grew urgent Thursday Tate went to Louisville saying he would be back Friday Not having been heard from Saturday night his family grew uneasy as did also the auditor Telegraphic correspondence elicited the fact that Tate left Louisville Friday morning on the Cincinnati train Then Auditor Hewitt ordered a balance taken and it was found there was in bank $[illegible]600 less than the vouchers called for

Tate's wife and daughter are much prostrated [illegible] one seems to have any idea of where he has [illegible]

IS IT A BLUFF

The Southern Pacific's Proposed Line from Montague to Kelton

SAN FRANCISCO March 20 —By some persons it is thought the Southern Pacific Company's plan for the construction of a rail road from Montague on the California & Oregon line into Nevada and [illegible] to Kelton Utah where it will connect with the Central Pacific is for the purpose of discouraging the Chicago & Northwestern in its efforts to reach this city and also to cut off the Union Pacific railroad from securing the extensive stock shipments which it obtains from that part of its territory The construction of such a line would assure the Southern Pacific Company of a share of Oregon and Washington territory trade now going by the Oregon Short Line and the Northern Pacific

In commenting upon the report of this intention of the Southern Pacific Company, a well informed man remarked to-day Having covered its own territory pretty thoroughly in the building of branch lines here and there the Southern Pacific now contemplates the construction of several strategic lines which are intended to insure it against invasion I don't say these roads will actually be built but they will be surveyed with a flourish of trumpets that means to warn invading [illegible] that they are treading on dangerous ground Surveys will be run and passes held against new comers wherever possible The company has a strong and well equipped force of engineers on its road for which it now has but little use except to employ in this way The [illegible] from Montague to Kelton may be built in the course of time but if this is only surveyed and there is great noise about it it will have nearly the same effect upon outside lines seeking entrance here as if the road were actually constructed and in operation

WEARING CRAPE FOR A COPPERHEAD

A correspondent who writes from Mullen, Montana, feels severe pain in his political bowels that the late Thomas A. Hendricks, of Indiana, is not regarded as a patriotic statesman during the civil war, and hastens to whitewash the memory of that able Northern doughface and corrosive copperhead. Our Montana correspondent says that "Tom Hendricks fought the battle of constitutional liberty." This is the same battle that Jeff Davis claims to-day that he fought when he shot at the flag. From the Jeff Davis standpoint we are not sure that our Montana mourner at the tomb of Hendricks is wrong, for Hendricks, by his public speeches and private influence in Indiana, did more than any other man in the state to discourage enlistments and to paralyze all Lincoln's efforts to defeat Jeff Davis's "battle for constitutional liberty," that is the liberty of any section of the Union to haul down the American flag whenever it shall seem good to them. By the way, Lincoln fought a battle for four years and finally won it in spite of Jeff Davis in his front and Tom Hendricks in his rear What was that battle? Was it for "constitutional liberty?" We think it was, the liberty and right of the constitution, through the government, to defend its own life, a right of national self preservation implied in every government, whether its constitution is an accumulation of precedents, like that of England, or a written constitution, like that of the United States. Lincoln did not hesitate to enforce this right of national self-preservation by force of arms, and he did not look at the letter of the constitution to find that right any more than he would turn to the statute books to find specific authority for defending his own life from an assassin. Lincoln knew that no written constitution would contemplate its own destruction and promptly asserted the first law of nature, that of self preservation.

Hendricks either did not know or did not care to see that Lincoln's battle for national self-preservation was a battle for the implied right and liberty of the nation under any constitution to vindicate its right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness under the flag of the Union. If Lincoln was right then he was a true patriot if he was wrong then Davis and Hendricks ought to be canonized as political saints, heroes and martyrs. Hendricks was so conspicuous in his efforts to obstruct Lincoln's efforts to suppress the rebellion that the volunteer soldiery of Indiana hooted him out of camp, and he only escaped personal violence by the interference of Gov. Morton. The soldiers of Indiana did not hoot Lincoln or Morton, why did they hoot Hendricks?

Our Montana correspondent says that the "two Seymours, Crittenden and Douglas," were in sympathy with the views of Hendricks. Undoubtedly Seymour was, but Douglas, who died early in June, 1861, in his last interview with Lincoln, endorsed his policy of coercion in the most emphatic manner, and the Douglas democracy were almost to a man the "war democrats" that supported Lincoln's armed coercion, both within the army and behind it. The Hendricks "copperhead" democracy not only did not support Lincoln's armed coercion by joining the army, but they worked enormous mischief behind the army in discouraging enlistments by the influence of both public appeal and private speech Our Montana correspondent thinks that the loyalty of Hendricks and his "awkward squad" of copperhead democrats to the war for the Union is "proved by the conduct of the troops from the states they represented, which furnished more than their share." The conduct of the troops was all right, but they went to the front not with the consent and in answer to the appeal of Tom Hendricks, but in patriotic defiance of his protest against coercion and in contempt for his lukewarm and obstructive attitude Indiana and New York did nobly, but neither Indiana nor New York furnished more than their share of troops. Indiana furnished 197,147 men, or 2641 less than her full quota under all the calls of Lincoln, and New York furnished 467,047, or 40,101 less than her full quota. Indeed, the only states that furnished more than their share of troops were Kansas, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Delaware, District of Columbia, Ohio, Illinois and Vermont.

The Montana eulogist of Hendricks says "Lincoln voted against supplies for the Mexican war." The Mexican war was an unjust, wanton pro-slavery assault upon a poor and feeble people who had done us no wrong The war for the Union was a struggle for national existence, as holy a war as that waged by the colonies and won by Washington There are wars and wars Does the Montana tear-dropper and flower-scatterer on the grave of Hendricks see no difference between a war of unprincipled national aggression upon Mexico to strengthen the Satanic forces of slavery and a war to save the Union when those same Satanic forces sought to split it with the sword?

As a private citizen Tom Hendricks was a very pleasant and estimable man so for that matter is Jeff Davis but as a public man in our great struggle for existence Hendricks was a public calamity, and THE OREGONIAN is not yet in sympathy with those who still wear political crape in memory of dead copperheads. Confederates, by their courage and sacrifices, command charity and respect but copperheads less compassion than contempt.

SITTING WITH THE GIRLS

Dr H C Haydn the new president of Adelbert College, at Cleveland, Ohio was chosen for his position because of his business capacity Dr Haydn found that the system of educating members of the two sexes together was a bar to his efforts to raise money for the college and in obedience to his advice the trustees have determined to abolish coeducation at Adelbert, and no more young women are to be received Dr Haydn is right as a practical man of business Equal education for men and women is one thing, but co-education is quite another There is no sound reason for bringing the sexes together in one educational institution It is no intellectual or moral advantage either to the young men or the women and it is, as a rule so intensely repulsive to young men that when possible they avoid colleges that persist in the co-education of the sexes. The student life and social life of young men at college becomes inevitably blended into something with which young women have no sympathy, and their presence in the class-room always acts as a disagreeable restraint, to which of course a gentleman must submit, but does so with reluctance and ill concealed, entirely natural disgust. There is no moral objection to having a college professor distributed to every suite of rooms in the college dormitory but in a social sense it would be so disagreeable and repulsive that few young men would choose such a college if they could find another So of the co-education of the sexes, it is like eating crow it is not open to moral criticism but no college boy hankers after it.

It is not necessary to the endowment of women with equal educational opportunities with man to educate the sexes together any more than it is necessary that a man who wanted to become a tailor should learn his trade of a tailoress. Men and women are equal in endowments and capacity for public usefulness in many directions, but not in all directions they are equally endowed in many directions, but not identically gifted, because nature has marked out clearly certain spheres of action that belong to women by birthright, and certain spheres which belong to men there are other spheres of action in which both sexes seem equally at home The error of the co-education business is that it ignores the fact that a young man by natural constitution does not relish the co-education of the sexes, however frankly he may favor absolute equality of educational opportunities for women.

To illustrate When the annual charity ball is held in New York city, people of both sexes go, they mingle in the dance, they meet at the banquet, which in its furnishment of viands and wine does not differ from the ordinary masculine public banquet to which women do not go.

Women do not go to public dinners, whether organized to celebrate the triumphs of trade or to discuss the burning questions of politics. Why? Not because there is wine on the table, or because they are afraid that Chauncey Depew, or Senator Evarts, or John Sherman or Roscoe Conkling will tell anecdotes that are salacious to the verge of indecency, but because they know that men, like women, sometimes feel that it is good to be alone, that the absolute decorum of a ballroom is neither practicable nor desirable at a banquet that involves masculine debate and the free unrestrained social intercourse of men as separated from the more formal and restrained public association of men and women. And this is not the result alone of the artificial training and education of centuries It is due to the instinct of nature as well as to the attrition of masculine life, discipline, experience and labor, as distinguished from the life, discipline, experience, labor, natural aspirations and acquired tastes of women. And it is this feeling and instinct that is at the bottom of the hostility of young men to the co-education of the sexes If all women were as masculine in mind, training, tastes and temper as Queen Elizabeth, who was a kind of tom boy of genius, planted on a throne, then co-education might be of small practical consequence, for the presence of such a woman would be of no more restraint than that of any other unsexed, or desexed female, but as long as the average woman is not masculine in mind, out-door training, tastes and temper, it is perfectly natural that the average college boy should dislike to sit with the girls.

The founder of the Prussian monarchy and first distinguished member of the house of Hohenzollern was Frederick William the First, the able but brutal father of Frederick the Great. Frederick the Great was born in 1712 and reigned 46 years, from 1740 to 1786, he was succeeded by his nephew, Frederick William the Second, a weak prince, who was succeeded in 1797 by his son, Frederick William the Third, who practically lost his kingdom at Jena, recovered it at Leipsic, and died in 1840. His son, Frederick William the Fourth, reigned from 1840 to 1857, when he became insane He died in 1861 and was succeeded by his brother, the late Emperor William, then regent of Prussia. The present emperor, Frederick the Third, is the eighth of his line The late Emperor William had a twin brother. William was kept for a prince of Hohenzollern, while the other child was given to a discreet German nobleman to bring up as a gentleman of good family and mysterious origin, and became a German squire. His daughter married and migrated to Ohio, and his grandson is a well known professor of music in New York city, and strongly resembles his cousin, the present emperor We find this interesting fact in the Springfield Republican, which says

Our readers will look for this story in vain in the histories, but it is truer than history, and the Emperor William, whose death is now announced acknowledged the relationship in letters of his own hand addressed to his niece in Ohio then herself an elderly woman who had with some difficulty solved the riddle of her father's origin

Louis Fourteenth, of France, is said to have had a twin brother, and on this circumstance Dumas founded one of his most brilliant historical fictions.

The reported refusal of many New York republicans to accept Blaine's declaration as final is a bit of foolish obstinacy Nobody knows better than Mr. Blaine that his declination to be a candidate has been too positive and peremptory to make it possible for him to recall his decision at the eleventh hour when the convention meets with any reasonable hope of success It would be an act of political suicide for the party to try and force Blaine into the field handicapped as he would be by his positive and unqualified declination The report that Depew is strong in New York and weak at the West is probably true In spite of his brilliant talents Depew would be a dangerous candidate in doubtful Western states, like Indiana, and in states that are not republican by a very large majority, as he would have to fight the strong popular prejudice of the people against making any leading representative of a vast railroad corporation president This prejudice is so strong at the West that Depew's candidacy might make even republican states like Iowa, Minnesota, Michigan, Wisconsin, and possibly Illinois, doubtful New York knows Depew personally so well that she forgets that the West does not know him except as the able engineer of a vast railway corporation. The prediction that if there is to be a dark horse in the convention the Pacific states will vote for Gen Miles is not likely to be justified by events. If a soldier is to be "the dark horse" Gen Miles would hardly be selected except to give him a personal compliment, but the Chicago convention is no place for complimentary votes of this sort.

The United States supreme court has decided that "the power to regulate or forbid the sale of a commodity, after it has been brought into a state, does not carry with it the right and power to prevent its introduction by transportation from another state The section of the Iowa statute of April 5 1886, which prohibits railroad companies from bringing liquor into the state is therefore declared to be invalid." This is a very important decision, as the courts of several New England states have sustained the seizure of packages of liquor from railroad and express companies consigned to private parties for their own use. The efforts of Senator Frye, of Maine, to get the senate to vote that distilled and fermented liquors, imported in bond, are subject to seizure and confiscation under the laws of the states, the same as when manufactured in the United States is not likely to succeed, as the majority of the judiciary committee have reported against it Dingley, of Maine, has in vain for several years tried to get the house to do the same thing, but his measure has thus far died in committee It is noteworthy that the minority report is signed by Edmunds, Ingalls, and Wilson, all senators from states that include the prohibitory liquor law among their statutes The minority evidently wish to cast an anchor to the windward against their day of re election

The Columbia River Fishermen's Union composed exclusively of gill net fishermen has decided to obey the law strictly during the coming season if the trap men will also obey it. But if the traps operate Saturday nights the gill net men will fish as usual It is the general opinion that the season will be a poor one The "run" is likely to be a minimum quantity, and the price demanded by the fishermen is so high that there will be little profit in any event. At several canneries no preparations are making for the season and they will not be operated Nothing could be more fortunate for the salmon interest of the state than a few dull seasons, with prohibitory prices for fish It would give the salmon a chance to restock the river by nature's own sure method

---

Mr J B Montgomery's positive declaration to a reporter at New York that "If there is to be a dark horse the Pacific states will vote for Gen Miles," illustrates a vivid and picturesque imagination Gen Miles is a gallant soldier and in all respects a fine man, and a worse man might be named for the presidency, but the suggestion of his name in connection with the republican nomination is entirely new If there is any talk about Gen. Miles even as a "dark horse," it has been kept very quiet.

It has been decided definitely to complete and equip the dry-dock at Albina during the coming summer A thorough examination shows that no damage to speak of has resulted from lapse of time, and further, that the difficulty which caused suspension of the work three years ago can easily be overcome.

In the most delicate and cautious manner possible the Tacoma News suggests that the chamber of commerce communicate with the managers of the Manitoba road and point out the advantages of Tacoma as a terminus Has the Northern Pacific been nursing a viper?

It is understood at the East that the Vanderbilts are 'backing' the Manitoba road, which accounts for some things not heretofore understood.

Badeau would do well to be silent. He can say nothing that will not increase public contempt for him.

A COPPERHEAD DEFENDER.

A WRITER WHO RANKS HENDRICKS WITH LINCOLN AS A DEFENDER OF THE CONSTITUTION.

MULLEN, Deer Lodge Co, Mont., Feb 10

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Dear Sir I notice in your issue of March 2d a letter from Mrs. Hendricks, widow of the late vice president of the United States. I also noticed in a previous number the article to which she refers in the letter The person who sent the article alluded to for her perusal had as little sense as judgment and none of that chivalry that would spare a lady the pain of having the mistakes of the husband whom she loved and lived with during life, enumerated and magnified, to be cast into her face after his death I have waited to see if some person more able than myself would not protest against such conduct, but since silence seems to control the men for whom Tom Hendricks fought the battle of constitutional liberty, I will do the best I can in vindication of the grand principles he maintained during life, and which I hope he has transmitted after his untimely death to the future generations of his countrymen.

No doubt Tom Hendricks believed that school of American statesmen who belonged to the constitution of the United States was strong enough to preserve the Union without resort to any extraordinary means He was also opposed to innovations of war legislation when in opposition to a representative form of government He was not alone in this He was perhaps the central figure of a group which included the two Seymours, Crittenden and Douglas, and perhaps the immortal Lincoln himself That his acts or speeches or votes contained any sympathy with treason must be denied and there was none so bold and brazen to accuse him of it during life although he was a figure in two campaigns in the nation besides several in his own state That all those men differed as to the conduct of the war there is no doubt especially the three hundred dollar clause in the first call for troops which exempted all the rich men and left the patriotic duty of preserving the Union to the poor who were unable to rustle up the needful three hundred That they were right is best proven by the revocation of the objectionable clause. That they never aided or abetted treason is best refuted by the conduct of the troops from the states their represented which furnished more than their share and every regiment of which distinguished itself in action and never showed the enemy their backs

If it was wrong to oppose any measure of war legislation, no matter how unjust or dangerous to a constitutional form of government, how would it stand with our martyred Lincoln, who voted against supplies for the Mexican war? Is there any so bold as to impute to him dishonor or dishonesty for his votes or speeches on that occasion? We were fighting a foreign power and defending ourselves and our right to admit to our Union any independent state asking admission and adopting our form of government

But all our wars had better be forgotten or only remembered for the glories they have brought to our common heritage The motives that actuated statesmen at that time cannot now be ascertained and should be taken as for their country's good and it seems to be very much out of place to malign the memories of men after death who in life had the respect and confidence of a majority of their countrymen and all honorable and intelligent men throughout the world. Very respectfully,

C D SULLIVAN

Elder J W Webb of Salem was in the city yesterday arranging with the prohibition state executive committee the routes of ex-Gov St. John and Walter T Mills He returns home to-day on his way to the Lane county convention, which meets in Eugene on Friday He will shortly spend a week or two in Multnomah county

THE EAST SIDE

Albina city council meets this evening

Switches are being built along the street car line

Real estate men have been kept very busy so far this week.

Notices are posted about the city calling for a democratic meeting in Stott's hall Friday night.

Mr Davison, the contractor will doubtless begin work as soon as he can get material together It will be one of the most important bridges on the east side

The complaint is made that some cattle have been turned loose in the open space south of N street and that they are a great annoyance to people living on Fourth street.

Grading on N street east of where the elevated roadway is being built is progressing The cut in many places will be eight feet deep The contract calls for completion of the work by June 1

The council did a handsome and appropriate thing in recognizing the efforts of Judge Woodward in behalf of the proposed bridge across Stephens slough It was mainly through his efforts that $700 was raised.

There was one case against a Chinese woman tried in Justice Bullock's court yesterday afternoon before a jury The woman was charged with keeping a house of bad repute in Portland but she was acquitted The court room was full of China men from the other side. There were also as many spectators as could get in the room

The false work for the railroad bridge between the east side abutment and the first pier is almost completed, only a small space remaining to be finished, A large barge is anchored below the false work which will be used in conveying heavy sections of the bridge out in the river The work of putting the different portions together will certainly commence in a few days.

There has always been complaint that long freight trains have had a habit of stopping opposite the ferry landing in Albina and causing great delay and annoyance to those going to and from the ferry Sometimes the trains are said to stand ten and twenty minutes while women and others who desire to take the ferry are kept in waiting The trains should not stop at all at this crossing

The railroad shops have been in operation for several days past. There is a certain class of work that can only be done in the terminal buildings such as repairing the heavy locomotive driving wheels This can not be done at The Dalles It is thought that the big shops will be operated off and on from this time forward The people of Albina are in hopes that the terminal buildings will be occupied by a large force of men ere many days

NOTE FROM CAPT ALLEN NOYES

PORTLAND March 20

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

In your article of this date headed The Sailor Abuses I see that in my remarks before the board of trade of this city I am understood as including the courts and officials of Astoria in the malpractices of that city regarding seamen I certainly disclaim any intention of being so understood Perhaps in my remarks about trumped up charges falling to the ground as such as the object of the charge was effected I should have been more specific and then I should have been better understood but as to including the courts or its officials as a class or any of the good citizens of Astoria I utterly disclaim anything of the kind I did say in substance that the practice of taking sailors out of ships under false charges was more prevalent there than in any place I had ever visited and I certainly think so now but we are not without sin in Portland and I have heard of some very grave offences in this city lately which should be looked into for it is a fact that unless there is some reform in the abuses referred to the result will be injurious to both Portland and Astoria.

ALLEN NOYES

A PERTINENT SUGGESTION

PORTLAND March 1

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

One interested in the public school system wishes to draw the attention of those who have authority in the matter of appointing teachers to a point which is of vast importance in its bearings The educational leaders have for years been calling for the devoting of the best teaching capacity to infantile grade work One will hear of such appointments of salary as [illegible] $80 $100 or more for a principal and $40 for a primary teacher Are these things in keeping Can any teacher afford to teach permanently on the small salary last named And as a rule is a thing well done which is not in the line of permanent occupation?

Besides all of which in the schools generally (Portland is an exception) the same standard is required for a primary teacher of any grade as for those in the highest X Y Z

ATTEMPT TO BURN A JAIL.

R. M Tweedy, awaiting trial for forgery, and now confined in the jail at Pendleton made an attempt to burn the jail Monday morning. When Mr Beagle went to the jail that morning, he found the contents of Tweedy's cell nearly consumed by fire and the jail full of smoke Tweedy was found lying on his back in an adjoining cell to which he had access, with his face covered with blood and pretending to be in spasms. He was taken out in to the jail yard and left in charge of his father, who had accompanied Mr Beagle to the jail and Mr Beagle returned and put out the fire. Tweedy had evidently set fire to the bed first, and then punctured his skin somewhere to get blood to cover his face. What part the blood was intended to play in his pretense of sickness is not known says the East Oregonian. Mr Beagle had Drs Eagan Barker and King examine Tweedy and they all said that nothing was the matter with him He won't say a word nor answer a question and his motive for thus trying to destroy the jail cannot be ascertained, or even guessed at

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

THE DRY DOCK IN GOOD CONDITION.—The work of pumping out the dry dock of the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company at Albina has been completed, and the management are more than satisfied with the result. It was contended by many that when the dock should be pumped dry the bottom would bulge up, or in other words, that water and mud would rise from below, owing to the nature of the ground, until the level of the river was reached. This fear, after an existence of three or four years, has been at last proven to be wholly without foundation. The dock has now been pumped out and the bottom has not "bulged" and is not likely to. In fact the bottom of the dock is in a great deal better condition than any one expected to find it after it had been so long neglected since its completion. Manager Holcomb visited the dock yesterday afternoon, and on his return said to an OREGONIAN reporter that it would be necessary to drive a few additional piles and to dredge out the small bar that has formed in front of the gate before the dock could be put into service. This work will be done at an early date, and it will not be long before the enterprise will be in practical operation.

GREAT DESTRUCTION OF TIMBER.—Mr J. M Bernhardt, special timber agent, who has for some time been inspecting timber lands in Tillamook county, arrived here yesterday. He came across the mountains on horseback, and reports the road free from snow except about fifty feet in one place but there are a number of trees across the track, which is still very muddy, and no attempt will be made to cross with wagons for six weeks yet. Mr Bernhardt was much surprised to see the great ravages which have been committed by fire in the timber of the Coast range. He explored seven townships of timber on the Trask and Wilson rivers, and from the top of the range looked away across miles and miles of charred stumps reaching clear to the Nestucca. He was told by an old settler that on account of a quarrel between two men twenty five years ago, about some rails which one had cut and which the other claimed were split too small, the rails were set on fire and they set the forest on fire, and the outcome was that four townships or 144 square miles of timber was destroyed.

OPPOSED TO IMPORTING CATFISH.—Recently some one wrote to Senator Mitchell asking for cat fish to stock Tualatin lake. The request was referred to Mr McDonald, of the United States fish commission, who reported unfavorably on it. Hearing of this State Fish Commissioner E. P Thompson addressed a letter to Senator Mitchell urging him to oppose the introduction into Oregon of any fish foreign to its waters until it can be determined whether the same fish would be detrimental to present fishing interests. He argued particularly against the catfish on the ground that it is a great spawn eater, and if the streams west of the Cascade mountains, which are the home of salmon and trout, are stocked with them, irreparable injury would follow to the salmon and trout, compared with which the catfish is far inferior Senator Mitchell replied that he would act in accordance with Commissioner Thompson's advice.

WONDERFULLY RICH SOIL.—A former resident of Portland, who has been settled for some time near Colfax, W T., is loud in his praises of that section and the enterprise and energy of its residents He says there is a great deal of capital withdrawn from Oregon invested there. People there pay 1½ per cent. for money to be used in grain raising, and contract to sell their wheat for five years at 50 cents per bushel, and so fertile is the soil that wheat-growing pays at this rate. A business man who listened to these remarks said this was one of the results of the usury law, mortgage tax law and other similar laws which hampered enterprise in Oregon, and concluded by remarking that if these laws were at once repealed Oregon would not in fifteen years recover from the damage which has been caused by them.

ESTATES SETTLED.—In the estate of Thomas Heath, deceased the final account of F K. Arnold, administrator was filed in the county court yesterday showing that the personal property of the deceased had been sold and all debts collected. The administrator had on hand, subject to accruing costs, $7544 00 also lot 7 block 169. The final report of J F Watson administrator of the estate of Daniel Watson, was filed, showing the amount on hand to be $9359 23 which Judge Catlin ordered distributed as follows Mrs. Maria H Watson Providence R. I $1000, Mrs Anna B. Bates and Mrs Sarah E Catley Providence, $800 each Mrs Mary W Watson, Portland, $400, Miss Mary G Watson, Portland, sister of the deceased, $6359 23

NEW SUITS.—In the state circuit court yesterday Lent & Young began suit against Henry Plummer A Ferrera, R B Curry, William Brown Lloyd Brooke W B. Robinson I R Dawson and John Ulmer They ask for judgment against Plummer for $425 due on two promissory notes made by him to G W Parker and James Humphrey who assigned them to the plaintiffs and to secure the payment of which Humphrey gave a mortgage on some Albina property "Plaintiffs further allege that the other defendants claim interest in the mortgaged property and pray that the same be foreclosed James B Clow & Son sued Hembree & O Brien for $194 26 alleged to be due for goods delivered.

ARCHBISHOP GROSS'S SILVER JUBILEE.—Today Archbishop W. H. Gross will celebrate his silver jubilee, or twenty fifth anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood The day will be commemorated at the cathedral in this city by a pontifical high mass at which the archbishop will be celebrant. Rt Rev Ægidius Junger, D D will preach the sermon The Benedictine Fathers of Mt. Angel are expected to assist in the music After the Lenten devotions in the evening a reception will be tendered Archbishop Gross at G. A. R hall corner of First and Taylor streets by the Catholic societies of the city and congratulatory addresses presented

AUTHORIZED TO BORROW MONEY.—Mr C N Scott receiver of the Narrow Gauge railways has been authorized by Judge Deady to borrow $40 000 to pay off debts incurred by the roads for material labor etc. This will be good news to many along the narrow gauge lines It is expected that a decision in the matter of the lease of the narrow gauge roads to the O R & N Co will be reached in a short time, and it is probably deemed best that the indebtedness of the road should be to a few persons in large sums which will be more convenient whichever way the suit is decided than to have a large number of debts outstanding for small amounts.

WORK ON THE JETTY.—Work goes ahead at the government works on the jetty at the mouth of the river The driving of piles on the extension of the jetty seaward begins to-day says the Astorian. Six barges are now used in hauling rock from the quarry near Vancouver the four government barges and two of the O R & N Co's barges. The government barges hold 2.5 tons each the O R & N barges 300 tons each If rock is going to be brought so far eight barges are needed to properly expedite the work A railroad is what is really needed and the saving of hauling charges would pay for the railroad before the work is completed

TWENTY DAYS OF FAIR.—Last evening a meeting was held by the board of directors of the Portland Mechanics Fair Association The principal business transacted by the board was the fixing of the date for holding the fair The date fixed for the opening was Thursday evening October 4 and the fair will close on the evening of October 2 Thus the exhibition will be open twenty days instead of fourteen as heretofore and will include four Saturdays instead of three Several other matters connected with the business and interest of the association were discussed, but no definite action was determined upon

NEW AVENUE OF COMMERCE.—Mr J Waldron Blake representing Webster Bros of Sydney New South Wales who arrived here a few days since has made arrangements with Capt. George Pope for opening out a trade with the Australian colonies A ship will soon be put on berth and others will follow in due time They will carry lumber canned fish and fruit articles manufactured of wood etc There is a prospect of building up a large and profitable trade with our antipodean cousins who need many things we have to sell

ASSIGNMENT.—Mrs E A A Brown whose bazar store at No 4 Morrison street was recently attached made an assignment yesterday to Edward Holman Her assets are $ 90 consisting of stock and fixtures Her liabilities are $45 2 12 as follows I R Dawson Portland $1156 12 Henry Koch San Francisco $ 647, T L Ray Portland $88 00 H & I Bloch San Francisco $122 50 Fearn Glove Manufacturing Company San Francisco $228 50 Sweet Dempster & Co Chicago $140 David Wilcox & Co Boston $187

BRIGHT PROSPECTS FOR A TOWN.—Mr R B Curry real estate broker has just returned from a flying trip to Southern Oregon, where he went in the interest of some capitalists to examine a water power at Gold Hill. He reports the latter place a very prospering point on the line of the O & C railroad With its water power having a fall of fifty feet in a distance of three and a half miles its immediate mines of gold silver iron lime coal and granite he does not see why the future of Gold Hill should not be bright

PRESENTS FOR ARCHBISHOP GROSS.—Monday the congregation of St Joseph's German Catholic church presented Archbishop Gross a very fine album Little Miss Caspara made the presentation speech in German and Master Wascher presented the album. The archbishop also received a bouquet from Master Frank Donnerberg Last evening the Catholic Knights presented the archbishop an excellent portrait of Cardinal Gibbons.

SERIOUS RUNAWAY ACCIDENT

F. Vigne Andrews Thrown from a Cart and Sustains Concussion of the Brain.

Mr F. Vigne Andrews, the well known insurance agent, met with a serious accident yesterday afternoon. While driving down Water street East Portland, in his road cart, accompanied by his clerk, Mr Donald Macleod, Wm. Fraser drove up behind them and was about to pass when Mr Andrews's horse, which is a spirited animal, increased its speed and was going at a rapid rate. A moment after the wheel of the cart struck the projecting end of a plank which had been stuck into a hole in the roadway to warn passers of danger upsetting the cart and pitching both gentlemen out. Mr. Andrews struck on his head and was knocked senseless and Mr. Macleod's nose was broken and his hip badly injured by the fall. Mr Andrews was placed in a carriage and taken to his office where his son got in the vehicle and started for home, but finding his father delirious he ordered the driver to proceed at once to St. Vincent's hospital

Drs Bevan and McKenzie attended to Mr. Andrews's injuries His head was very much swollen and it was feared that his skull had been fractured but an incision in the scalp relieved the pressure and afforded immediate relief and more favorable symptoms. Mr Andrews is suffering from concussion of the brain and was still unconscious at a late hour last night. He has also a badly lacerated wound on one leg. The doctors are hopeful but it will be several days before they can venture any decided opinion in the case.

Mr Macleod was also taken to the hospital and his injuries attended to. His wounds are painful but not dangerous The horse after the accident ran across the bridge, and at the foot of Morrison street ran into the buggy of Mr. G. W. Dustin damaging it considerably

NO SUCCESSOR FOR POTTER.

A New Condition of Affairs Since His Connection With the O. R & N.

Probable Effect of Thomas L. Kimball's Appointment as Acting General Manager of the Union Pacific—The Joint Lease.

News of the appointment of Thomas L. Kimball to be acting general manager of the Union Pacific has caused no little speculation as to the probable effect it will have on the personnel of the O R. & N management in Portland, and many shippers have been speculating as to what Mr Kimball's policy towards the Northwest coast will be Some people have the idea that Mr Kimball is the successor of the late Thomas J. Potter This is a mistake Mr Potter's position was unlike that of any other railroad man in the country, and his relations with the Union Pacific and O R & N were as close as it is possible for men to get. In he first place he was vice-president of the Union Pacific, then he was vice-president of the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company and he was trustee of the lease from the O R & N to the Short Line. He was the link which joined the corporations, and through him the O R & N was operated alike for the interests of the lessee and of the O R & N stockholders. While he discharged the duties of general manager of the Union Pacific and allied lines, he did not have the title of general manager Since he went into the service of the Union Pacific that company has had no officer with the title of general manager If Mr Potter had lived he would, no doubt, have appointed such an officer. Just now, according to press report, Mr Kimball is simply acting general manager, though it is not unlikely he will be appointed permanently to the position.

In the articles of lease of the O. R. & N to the Union Pacific, there is a provision that in case Mr Potter died before his term as trustee (three years expired, the presidents of the two corporations in interest shall name his successor. If they should not be able to agree, then Albert Fink, commissioner of the Trunk Line Association, as arbitrator, is empowered to appoint a trustee But a joint lease to the Northern Pacific, unless recent transactions shall be undone, brings a third party into the matter of choosing a trustee Under former conditions, such trustee would of necessity have to be a pronounced Union Pacific man—one who would operate the O. R. & N for the best interests of the Union Pacific. Under present conditions, the trustee must be neutral, working alike for the Northern and the Union at the same time protecting the interests of O. R. & N stockholders. So it is likely that nothing can be done now looking toward a successor to Mr Potter without the co-operation of the Northern Pacific. Indeed he cannot have a successor as trustee unless the joint lease resolution is rescinded, because a man occupying the position of vice-president of the Union Pacific would be objectionable to the Northern In any case, the matter of selecting a trustee for the three companies will be slow work and may take months. It is a good guess that Mr W H Holcomb will be the man. He has proven his fitness to manage the O. R. & N property, and is known throughout the West as a fair man. By "fair" it is not meant to say that he is a man of only fair ability, but that he will deal fairly impartially between rival corporations.

The relations of Acting Manager Kimball with the O R. & N will probably not be close. The general officers here continue to report to President Adams Mr Kimball has had a long and useful career with the Union Pacific and is known as the one man of the old and the unpopular management who was not tarred with the moss-back brush While S H H Clarke was general manager Mr Kimball was assistant general manager and during the former's long illness Mr. Kimball "ran the road" When President Adams came in, Mr Kimball was made general traffic manager and remained in that office until Mr Potter became vice president since which time he served as assistant to the vice-president.

It is believed by those best informed in the matter that there will be no change at present in the management of the O R & N either with regard to the general officers here or with regard to the company's relations toward the public Should the joint lease go into effect, the changes if any are not likely to occur before July 1, next.

DEATH UNDER THE WHEELS

An Albina Carpenter Killed While Attempting to Cross Between Freight Cars.

Wm Desert, a carpenter aged 26 years, who lived on the outskirts of Albina, met a horrible death in that town at 12 30 yesterday afternoon During the morning he worked for Dr Fisher and had an engagement to work in Portland in the afternoon in company with another man he started for the ferry at the time named to cross to this side At the same time a train of freight cars was moving slowly on the switch just at the head of the ferry incline. While the two men had yet considerable distance to go the boat whistled and both started to run Desert's companion managed to jump between the two cars and landed safely on the other side of the track.

Desert climbed the iron ladder on the side of one of the cars and swung himself around upon the bumpers The train was still moving and while Desert poised for a second to steady himself preparatory to jumping to the ground on the other side of the track a sudden jerk of the cars threw him off his feet and he fell on his back and neck under the wheels below which passed over his head and before the train could be stopped his brains were scattered along the track for a distance of twenty feet making a ghastly trail. Desert's head and face were crushed into an unrecognizable mass. He was also injured about the body Desert had a box of tools in his hand at the time which were run over and broken. A small boy who witnessed the accident fell in a swoon The remains were taken to the morgue and this morning Coroner DeLin will hold an inquest.

Desert leaves a young wife and child who are now visiting relatives in Silverton. Desert's people who live at the same place, have been notified of his death.

Ready-made Clothing.

The Suits which we manufacture for this department are made for the express purpose of supplying the wants of gentlemen who, believing that the best is the cheapest are willing to pay a fair price for garments that have been made from carefully selected thoroughly tested, honest materials, and by skillful intelligent, well paid labor

Prudent people deal with us, knowing that the prices we put on our goods are considering quality, always the lowest They know also that we put before them no old stock but strictly new goods in their season

Spring Suits

Although we have had but little real spring weather as yet our sales of Light Weight Suits have surpassed our greatest expectations, compelling us to telegraph East for immediate supplies This is not surprising when you consider that our display this spring has never been equaled in the Northwest for Elegance and Quality while prices are lower than ever before

Some men usually have poor luck in finding ready made clothing to fit They come in here with an expression of incredulity as they say Let's see those Spring Overcoats or Suits you advertise" The expression becomes one of satisfaction the moment the gentleman beholds in a mirror how perfectly the garments fit, and he is at once convinced that he can get of us just what he wants in the way of a Spring Suit or Light weight Overcoat.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

Political Note and Comment from European Capitals.

THE SITUATION IN GERMANY.

Warm Talk Over Boulanger in the French Chamber of Deputies—Funeral of Ex-Senator Carnot—Cable Notes.

GERMAN POLITICS.

Adoption of Addresses in Reply to the Emperor's Messages.

BERLIN, March 20.—In the reichstag to-day the president read the address of that body in reply to the imperial message. The address expresses gratitude to the emperor for overcoming all obstacles and assuming without delay the imperial dignity and its rights and duties, thanks his majesty for his assurances and expresses sorrow for the loss of the great ruler to whom Germany owes her reconstruction and unity, whose life was devoted to strengthening Germany's influence and position, who was the guardian of peace and whose efforts aimed to promote the welfare of all classes. In conclusion the reichstag assures Emperor Frederick of its unswerving fidelity in order to accomplish all the tasks Emperor William marked out and bequeathed to Germans as a legacy. The address was adopted without debate.

THE WISH FATHER TO THE THOUGHT.

VIENNA, March 20.—The Fremdenblatt and the Presse describe the comments of the Russian Pan-Slavic press on Emperor Frederick's proclamation as highly colored. The journals, they say, imagine that there exists a deep dissidence between Emperor Frederick and Prince Bismarck and that a dissolution of the Austro-German alliance is imminent, and they treat recent dispatches from the chancellor as private and unimportant. The correspondents of Russian journals say the Vienna papers must have some interest to encourage themselves with this naive self deception whereof events will soon show the futility.

FOR A MONUMENT.

BERLIN, March 20.—In the reichstag to-day, Herr Ackermann introduced an urgent motion requesting Prince Bismarck to introduce at the next session, a bill for the erection of a monument to the late Emperor William, founder of the empire. The motion was adopted without dissent.

AN OFFICIAL DENIAL.

BERLIN, March 20.—Dr. Friedberg, minister of justice, writes to the Treisinnig denying the report that cabinet and other ministers had had a conference at which was discussed the advisability of establishing a regency.

UNANIMOUSLY ADOPTED.

BERLIN, March 20.—The landtag unanimously adopted an address in reply to the royal message. The address will be presented to the king.

IMPERIAL AMNESTY.

BERLIN, March 20.—It is expected that Emperor Frederick will proclaim an extensive amnesty on Thursday.

MANITOBA'S STRUGGLE.

Premier Greenway Creates a Sensation by Leaving Ottawa.

WINNIPEG, March 20.—A private telegram from Premier Greenway from Ottawa announces that he will leave for home having accomplished nothing. The Dominion government kept putting him off from day to day under pretense of conferring with the Canadian Pacific authorities until Greenway came to the conclusion the Dominion government was humbugging him with a view to gain time, so he cut negotiations short, and will return home.

THE ACT APPROVED.

ST. PAUL, March 20.—A Winnipeg special to the Pioneer Press says: The Manitobans generally uphold the action of Premier Greenway and Attorney General Martin in leaving Ottawa. A dispatch from the capital says the announcement that they had departed came like a bombshell into the Dominion government camp, and it is thought their action in showing the government they would not be humbugged, will hasten a settlement. Before leaving, Premier Greenway sent a third and final state document to the secretary of state, setting forth clearly the grievances of Manitoba, and the urgent and immediate want of better railway facilities. The Fort McLeod Gazette (conservative) urges Northwestern members of parliament to back up Manitoba in her fight for freedom.

Two Indians were killed and several wounded. On the same day at a point called Aguajo de Las Burras, the same officer encountered another band of Indians and had a fight, in which he succeeded in routing them.

EARTHQUAKES.

Col. Kosterlitzky, in command of the custom house guards at Bavispe, recently arrived at Hermosillo from that place, and says earthquakes are of daily occurrence in and about Bavispe, and are preceded by loud underground noises. Between Ratepeto and Fronteras there is a place where the shocks are much stronger, and it is believed a volcano will soon burst forth there.

FRANCE.

[illegible] OVER [illegible]

FUNERAL OF THE PRESIDENT'S FATHER.

PARIS, March 20.—Funeral services for the late Senator Carnot, father of President Carnot, were held to-day in the church of St. Philippe du Roule. President Carnot was the chief mourner. There was a large attendance. After the funeral, as the cortege was leaving the cemetery, a crowd of people rushed towards M. Ferry's carriage, shouting "A bas Ferry!" "Vive Boulanger!" Order was finally restored by gen d'armes. M. Ferry was compelled to accept police protection.

THE DECORATION SCANDALS.

PARIS, March 20.—Gen. Caffarel and Mme. Limousin were sentenced to-day for complicity in the sale of decorations. In Gen. Caffarel's case extenuating circumstances were found and the court only imposed a fine of 3000 francs. Mme. Limousin was sentenced to six months' imprisonment.

TO INQUIRE INTO BOULANGER'S CASE.

PARIS, March 20.—Premier Tirard to-day informed the chamber of deputies that a military tribunal would inquire into the case of Gen. Boulanger. The order of the day was then demanded by the government and voted 349 to 93.

The Gazette adds that it is expected the Mexico will respond to the confidence which German capitalists have shown by meeting Germany's requirements in the marketing of her industrial products so that economical relations of advantage to both countries may be established.

DISASTROUS FLOODS.

VIENNA, March 20.—The ice in the Danube is breaking up. There is an enormous inundation in Galicia and in Hungary. In the Lemburg district many villages have been wrecked. Two hundred houses have been ruined at Scottmar. Some of the streets of Buda are submerged.

By a law passed at the last legislature, aid is to be given the territorial militia in the sum of $300, for each company. There is consequently a revival of interest in military matters throughout the territory. The three companies of this city are receiving many new recruits, and interest in the militia is not likely to die out. THE ANDERSON CASE.

MR. J. W. COCHRAN IN REPLY TO MESSRS. BLOOMFIELD AND TOUSAINT.

VANCOUVER, W. T., March 19.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN.

As an answer to statements made by Mr. Bloomfield and Justice of the Peace Toussaint of this city, let me say: My little item on August Anderson, appearing in your paper of March 18, 1888, was entirely founded on a conversation with Sheriff Sechrist and a sworn affidavit of Jailer L. L. Thompson. That affidavit I withheld from publication, because I thought it reflected on my friend the justice and I had no desire to drag him into the case until forced to self-defense.

I now give your readers that portion of the affidavit which is a sufficient answer to the statements recently printed by Mr. Bloomfield and Justice Toussaint.

* * * That on the same day the boy Julius Peterson was sent for to appear for a hearing before the said A. F. Toussaint, justice of the peace. That the boy Julius Peterson was by affiant turned over to deputy sheriff J. W. Snover for the purpose aforesaid, and was by him conveyed to said justice court.

The trial was called for 4 o'clock P. M., on said Friday (February 10, 1888). That upon affiant's going about 4 o'clock to the said justice court, he near said court met the said boy Julius Peterson going at liberty the trial being closed, the justice refusing and neglecting to hear a single witness, even the complaining one, for the prosecution. That upon inspection by affiant of the subpena returned in said court, he found the justice had failed to summons the two witnesses named by the prosecution, namely Mr. Kettala and Peter Moa, who were told by the father of the girl that his daughter had been ruined by said Julius Peterson. To all of which said affiant makes oath.

L. L. THOMPSON.

Territory of Washington, County of Clark—By the said L. L. Thompson, subscribed and sworn to before me this 15th day of February, 1888.

FRANK M. GEOGHEGAN,
Notary Public.

The complete affidavit of Mr. Thompson, together with the petition for pardon were sent to His Honor Judge Frank Allyn by Sheriff Sechrist, who gave them to Governor Semple.

J. W. COCHRAN.

ABOUT REMOVING SNAGS

PORTLAND, March 19.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN.

One of the daily papers, I do not remember which, blames the government officials because some snags in the Willamette in front of the city have not been pulled out. This does not seem entirely fair, as the government boats are all laid up and there is no money on hand to get them ready and do the work. And as this is likely to happen at any time when there are no appropriations for river work and as snags are likely to come in occasionally at such times, it would seem better for the city to make some provision for towing these snags out of the channel. Any small steamboat or tug could do the work and the charge would not likely be high, not more than $4 or $5 probably.

CAREER AND CLAIMS OF GRESHAM.

He Represents the Great Moral Force of Antagonism to Corruption.

West Superior (Wis.) Inter Ocean.

Since Gresham's service as postmaster-general, he has been at all times a formidable character in the political world. The Wabash case increased his valorous reputation, and he has since been universally recognized as what is known as a man dangerous to all combinations.

Blaine himself might have looked upon him as a rival, had Logan lived to dispute the West with him, leaving room for a fourth candidate to make head. With the people, Judge Gresham represents the great moral force of antagonism to business corruption, to robbery that is only more dangerous than highway robbery because it is hidden in the meshes of legal formalities, false reports of officers, illegal acts of trustees, mortgage foreclosures based upon fraud, and behind the bulwarks of immense wealth and political and personal power. It is this element of strength which Judge Gresham possesses above all the other candidates named, and it is this which makes of him the strongest man whom the republicans can possibly nominate. But he doesn't need the Indiana delegation in order to secure the nomination. He should let Mr. Harrison have that forlorn fragment of strength. The country at large will dispose of Harrison in the convention or we mistake the spirit and good sense of the party.

He Would Unite the Party

Philadelphia Telegraph (Ind.)

There are a great many republicans, who would not vote for any other of the prominent leaders, who would vote for Judge Gresham, and if any one could come near to uniting the party probably he could come nearest of all. He has not sought the nomination, and his name is before the country chiefly because of his availability, which is the consequence of the general esteem in which he is held. He could, if any republican could, carry Indiana, and to do that would be to do a great deal towards securing republican victory at the polls. The party could go a great deal further and fare no worse than by deciding to take him. His candidacy would give a character to the campaign which republicans could fight vigorously to defend and maintain.

BRAINY WOMEN FROM MANY LANDS.

Famous Women Who Will be Present at the International Council in Washington.

The International Council of Women to be held in Washington this month will be the first gathering of its sort ever held. Of notable Englishwomen will be present Helen Taylor, the stepdaughter of John Stuart Mill, who has served on the London school board and has made some valuable contributions to the literature of social and political economy. Mrs. Millicent Fawcett, the widow of the blind postmaster-general, to whose influence was largely owing the extensive employment of women in the English postoffices, and whose volumes on political economy contain much that is worth reading. Mrs. Dilke, the owner of the Despatch newspaper and a well known lecturer, and Henrietta Mullen, a Girton girl, and now on the London school board, Mme. Bagelot, of Paris, stands for the prison work, and Italy, Denmark, Sweden and Germany will send representatives. The Collegiate Alumnæ, the Unitarian Women's conference and other organizations of women will have delegates. The Red Cross will be represented by Clara Barton, the temperance movement by Miss Frances Willard, the Women's National Press Association by Mrs. Marion McBride, of the Boston Post. Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, Mrs. Lucy Stone, Miss Anthony and Lillie Devereux Blake, with other prominent leaders of the woman suffrage movement, are expected. Miss Grace H. Dodge, of the New York school board, has been asked to speak on manual training. It promises to be a noteworthy gathering, representing the progress of women along many lines.

TO TURN THE TABLES.

New York Times.

There is a strong probability that the Knights of Labor organization will find in a short time that there is power in organized capital as well as in organized labor, and that a labor organization may be boycotted successfully by organized industries. For some time past a movement has been very quietly in progress among the brewers of the entire country, with the aim of shutting out from employment in any brewery every member of the Knights of Labor or other labor organization.

The movement took material form a few days ago, when a convention of brewers was held in New Haven. It is said that every large brewery in the United States was represented at this meeting, and that the general principle of excluding members of labor organizations from employment was unanimously adopted. The details of the plan by which this great change is to be carried out are withheld from the public, but it is understood that the scheme will be ready for promulgation before the heavy operations of the spring and summer are begun at the breweries. The reason stated for this great revolutionary movement by the brewers is that their business is being constantly interfered with by the labor organizations during seasons when it is ordinarily most profitable. It is argued that the brewers, by acting in unison, can boycott the entire Knights of Labor organization quite as successfully as that organization can boycott one or two breweries at a time. It is not intended to make any reduction in wages nor to suspend operations in any locality, but it is determined that there shall be no further labor troubles in that industry. The promoters of the scheme claim that the threats of labor organizations to boycott saloons using prohibited beer—that is, beer from breweries boycotted by themselves—will have no weight under the operation of the proposed plan, inasmuch as there will be no other than boycotted beer produced. The retailers will, therefore, be compelled to array themselves against the boycotters or go out of business. It is claimed that even the Knights will have to deprive themselves of their beer or drink what is produced by the boycotted brewers.

Among the features of the plan is one which gives the movement the appearance in some measure of a "trust." This, however, is intended to merely prevent interference with transportation. For instance, if the Knights of Labor employed upon transportation lines were to refuse to handle cars loaded with boycotted beer the brewers at the point of destination will bind themselves to supply the customers in their own localities of the brewers whose shipments have been prevented, turning a proportion of the profits, minus transportation charges, over to the shippers whose freight can not be forwarded. Should such a contingency as this arise, it is believed that the strength of the transportation companies will be added to that of the organized brewers in array against the Knights of Labor. Present employes will be given the option, it is said, of abandoning allegiance to the labor organizations, with dismissal as the alternative.

The outcome of so extensive and revolutionary a movement will be looked for with much interest by all classes of industries and labor organizations throughout the country.
